Background

The World Economic Forum expects 10% of global gross domestic product (GDP) to be stored on Blockchain technology by 2027.

In its report on Technology Tipping Points and Societal Impact (September 2015), The World Economic Forum forecasts that tax will be collected for the first time by a government via a Blockchain by 2025.

The World Economic Forum expects Bitcoin and Blockchain to have the following impacts:

- Increased financial inclusion in emerging markets, as financial services on the Blockchain gain critical mass
- Disintermediation of financial institutions, as new services and value exchanges are created directly on the Blockchain
- An explosion in tradable assets, as all kinds of value exchange can be hosted on the Blockchain
- Better property records in emerging markets, and the ability to make everything a tradeable asset
- Contacts and legal services increasingly tied to code linked to the Blockchain, to be used as unbreakable escrow or programmatically designed smart contracts
- Increased transparency, as the Blockchain is essentially a global ledger storing all transactions

About the Bitcoin & Blockchain Leadership Forum

The world is about to experience an exponential rate of change through the rise of Bitcoin and Blockchain technologies.

The Bitcoin & Blockchain Leadership Forum launched in May 2015 and The Bank of England discussed its plans for digital currencies at the inaugural meeting at Allen and Overy's offices in London.

The mandate of the Bitcoin & Blockchain Leadership Forum is to help society navigate the impact of the shifts to come.

We aim to help broader society navigate the transition to the future Bitcoin and Blockchain world by explaining the changes generated by major Bitcoin and Blockchain trends and the new business models in plain language and through engaging, accessible media, meetings, research services and working groups.

We hope to provide important insights to consider as we navigate the complex issues relating to these changing Bitcoin and Blockchain technologies.

Team

The Bitcoin & Blockchain Leadership Forum is independent and is run by the team behind the Digital and Social Media Leadership Forum.

www.digitalsocialmedialeadershipforum.org

The Digital and Social Media Leadership Forum was set up in 2009 to help large organisations navigate the challenges presented by emerging digital and social technologies through collaborative knowledge-sharing forums. Meetings are hosted by member organisations.

Previous Meetings

Exploring the New Frontiers of the Blockchain

24.06.2015

“When you do start thinking about it you wonder, why is our existing money the way that it is?”

“It’s not as direct as ‘bitcoin replaces cash’; in some cases bitcoin simply wants to be another kind of cash.”

Previous Meetings

Exploring Blockchain based Smart Contracts

23.07.2015

“Having a computer programme that temporarily controls the assets is a genuinely new step forward.”

‘Smart contract’ is an inaccurate name: it’s all about the execution of the obligations that have already been agreed in the contract.”

Why should I join the Bitcoin & Blockchain Leadership Forum?

By becoming a member, you will support independent cross industry exploration of the possibilities of Blockchain technologies and support our critically acclaimed forward thinking.

We aim to be the leading collaborative global forum for Bitcoin and Blockchain to help people around the world better understand and prepare for the shifts that will be brought on by advances in Bitcoin and Blockchain technologies.

We aim to provide important insights to consider as we navigate the complex issues related to these changing technologies. We are ledger neutral and have no vested interest in one particular Blockchain platform.

What services will the Bitcoin & Blockchain Leadership Forum provide for members?

We bring people from all backgrounds together to explore the potential possibilities of Blockchain technologies, sharing ideas, showcasing proof of concepts and updating one another on key market developments.

We offer monthly collaborative insight sharing meetings which focus on themes agreed in consultation with the membership.

We curate and bring together leading Blockchain start ups, academics and industry innovators to help you better understand the momentous shifts being brought in by Bitcoin and Blockchain technologies.

Each month we highlight and provide accessible and fresh updates on key Bitcoin and Blockchain developments, putting them in context and helping evaluate their significance.

Members receive colourful digital reports after each membership meeting which provide a full account of the insights that are shared.

We offer industry working groups where you can explore and share practical challenges to help navigate the complex issues related to these changing technologies.

What people are saying about the Bitcoin & Blockchain Leadership Forum

‘Thanks for encouraging such a great conversation.’

Nathaniel Popper, author of Digital Gold
(shortlisted for The Financial Times Business Book of the Year)

‘I had the pleasure of attending the Bitcoin & Blockchain Leadership Forum last month – it was a really valuable event. In fact, I took a lot of the insight I gained at the event back to the Bank – specifically ideas for Blockchain use cases.

For me, these leadership forums are great for tracking developments within the FinTech and Innovation space. I am certain that our Design Office, R&D Teams would gain a lot from attending.
